Gov. Hunt Visits Kingman.

Last Wednesday evening Gov. Hunt, accompanied by Mr. Osborn, member of the board of control, arrived in Kingman and was greeted by a large gathering of citizens headed by Kingman's new band.

At the opera House the same evening the governor told the people the aims and objects of his administration, taking up the various public institutions and adverting to the reforms either instituted or proposed. Many of these reforms met with the hearty approval of the people and while many did not coincide with him in the matter of prison management, each and every one gave him credit for honesty of purpose. Prison reform is just now one of the great problems of the day, and few really know what the new order of things may bring about. It is at least up to the people to give a trial to the method introduced by Gov. Hunt and await results. Along the line of good roads, the Governor struck can be done to advance the good roads in this county that we owe his visit to us. Thursday morning, in company of Charles Grimes, of the Tom Reed Gold Mines company, J. S. Withers, supervisor, and some other gentlemen, the visitors went out to Goldroad and Oatman by auto, returning Thursday their votes on the proposed issue of evening. Gov. Hunt was delighted bonds for courthouse, today. It is with the two great gold camps and expressed his surprise with the great bars of gold he saw in the vaults of the company. Yesterday they departed to Seligman in the auto of C. W. D.vis, J. S. Withers accompanying the party. The route taken was along tha line of the transcontinental automobile route, passing close to the Grand Canyon at Peach Springs, and through deep gorges and beautiful chased a spring in the Cerbat range valleys. From Seligman the governor's party will return by train to In conversation with the MINER editor Gov. Hunt expressed the belief that the people of this county should provements, and expressed his surprise when told that Kingman was not an incorporated town. He thought that by issuing bonds for public improvements the state would then feel like helping out the county especially was of the belief that a high school should be instituted in Kingman and that the State would help in the installation of laboratory fixtures so that the arts and sciences might be taught. In all matters of public improvement the governor promised his aid and good will. And the people may rest assured that whatever governor Hunt agrees to do he will carry it out, so that we may rely on aid in the matter of a great highway connecting this with Yavapai and Coconino counties. He is heartily in accord with the people in the issue of bonds for public purposes and wishes it understood that the sooner our people provide a bond will suit him.

The game hunters of Arizona are Mr. Brawley, who with others hold somewhat pleased to know that the referendum has been invoked on the subject of the new game law. The old law is still in existance until the new one is put into action. It is to be new law, as it is a good measure, not but that of the lives of the people.

Only a small vote was polled in the county, but the new party appeared to make an excellent showing, polling nearly two to one over that of the republicans. Nearly 900 registered voters were on the registers, so that only about forty per cent of the vote was cast. If this was true of the progressives they would poll a larger vote at the forthcoming election than the republicans did at the last election, while the democrats would also increase their lead largely.

Return of twelve of the fourteen counties of Arizona show that Wiley E. Jones and W. T. Webb have a safe lead over John R. Hampton and George Babbitt for democratic electors. Babbitt and Hampton are neck and neck with Coconino and Apache countres to hear from. The belief is general that Babbitt may be scratched by the west enders of Coconino county, because of Babbitt's opposition to county division last fall, but in the summing up he is given the best of the argument and his election admitted. Many people in this county would rather have seen Webb, Hampton and Babbitt given the places, but the people of the other sections willed otherwise. In the other parties there was no opposition.

W. O. Ruggles, the well known mining and mill men of Chloride, is in Kingman.
